

Acrylic Landscape Painting Supply List

Paint:

For this workshop/class I will be using this palette:

Cadmium Yellow Deep, Cadmium Orange, Luminous Rose, Amethyst, Compose Violet, Shadow Green with the possible addition(s) of Titanium White, Cobalt Teal and Payne's Grey.

If you're a beginner, I always recommend a palette that includes a warm and a cool version of each of the three primary colors, like this one:

This is only a recommendation. You are welcome to use any colors and brands you choose or if you have already established your own color palette, you are more than welcome to use that.

Brands I like: Holbein, M. Graham, Sennelier or Da Vinci. Some of the names of the colors I use are specific to a particular brand. However, you can find similar colors in whichever brand(s) you select.

I will be using Luminous Rose as the underpainting color. You can also use any warm, earthy, transparent color such as Transparent Yellow Iron Oxide.

Canvas:

Stretched canvas can be found just about everywhere these days. I always recommend purchasing the best you can afford. Better quality brands like Fredrix, will have heavier weight canvas and sturdier stretched bars. If you prefer a more rigid surface there are many to choose from. I like Ampersands Aquabord and Gessobord products. Please use an 11x14 or larger substrate. As an added option, a few sheets of watercolor paper, canvas paper or boards for quick studies might be helpful.

Brushes:

I recommend the following Trekell or Princeton, long handle brushes: #12 or #10 natural bristle flat, #8 or #6 natural bristle filbert and #4 synthetic round.

Additional Items:

Tabletop easel

Freezer paper or 9x12 pad of palette paper

Water misting bottle

Palette knife

Water container, preferably plastic

Vine charcoal

Paper towels
